Casual Quality

You don't want a fast-food burger, but you don't have time for a proper dining experience either. What to do? Go "fast casual."

Lemon Moon

The guys behind Mélisse and JiRaffe—Josiah Citrin and Raphael Lunetta—joined forces a couple of years ago to open this cheery breakfast and lunch spot where sandwiches, salads and oversized cookies rule. Traditionalists can get their turkey sandwich, while diners with more exotic tastes might try rock shrimp ceviche or Polynesian tofu.
